(? - 1053) GODWIN or GODWINE

An earl of the West Saxons. He was Canute's most powerful official (1020); practically made Edward the Confessor king and thereafter was the leader of the English against the Norman nobles. In 1051 the Normans complained that the citizens of DOVER had ill-treated some of their friends. Edward ordered GODWIN to punish them. On Godwin's refusal the king outlawed him and he fled to Flanders. In 1052 he sailed with a force against the king and compelled him to yield.
